

UTHealth School of Public Health Honor Code

Objective: To cultivate a culture of honesty, integrity and respect among and between students and faculty within the UTHealth School of Public Health.

UTHealth Hand book of Operating Procedures (HOOP) – Documentation of rules and regulations that govern all aspects of University-related activities for students, faculty, and staff. <https://www.uth.edu/hoop/>

Guidance regarding academic misconduct within the Unacceptable Conduct section of the HOOP:

HOOP Policy 186 - Appendix A - Unacceptable Conduct -

"Unacceptable conduct that would subject a student to disciplinary action includes, but is not limited to the following:

- o engaging in scholastic dishonesty such as cheating, plagiarism, collusion, submitting another person's work or materials for credit, taking an exam for another person, acting in a manner that would give unfair advantage to him- or herself or another student, or attempting to commit such acts;"

Honor Code to be included in all student assignments, exams, and projects:

- o The values for the UTHealth School of Public Health are based upon honesty, integrity, and mutual respect between all students, faculty, and staff. These values are applied to all endeavors that are related to activities that are carried out as members and representatives of the UTHealth School of Public Health. This paper, project, or exam is a reflection of my individual work, and to this end, I affirm that on my honor, I have not received nor given any aid on this submitted work.
- o If you are unsure/unclear of how this pertains to your current assignment, please consult your professor regarding the situation-specific information before signing.
