

Kulsum Lopez

Graduate Engineer, Bureau of Pollution Control and Prevention, Houston Health Department

Kulsum Lopez serves as a Graduate Engineer for the Bureau of Pollution Control and Prevention, Houston Health Department of the City of Houston. In her role, she provides engineering support for investigation and enforcement of environmental compliance for various facilities. She holds a Mechanical Engineering degree with an environmental focus and graduated from University of Texas at Tyler with high honors. She also holds a degree in Health from University of Houston, where she graduated with highest honors. She is E.I.T. certified with the Texas Board of Professional Engineers and working towards her P.E.