

Taking care of workers here, there and everywhere

Our SWCOEH colleagues David Gimeno, George Delclos and ‘Safety Bob’ Emery were featured in separate stories of a new health newsletter published by the University of Texas System, Texas Health Journal. The issue features several articles on occupational health activities at various University of Texas campuses. Bob discusses how he wakes up every morning with the responsibility of keeping safe the more than 17,000 employees at UTHealth Houston, while David and George summarize their recent research activities examining working conditions and health in Central America.
